Speaking at the U.S. American Legion Convention on Wednesday last week, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared that Communist China is training, equipping and supplying Communist rebels in Indo-China. He added:

"There is the risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its army into Indo-China. The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China."

Mr. Dulles' address during the Convention passed two resolutions, one of them demanding that in the event of renewed Communist aggression both the atom and H-bombs be used; the second, endorsing the United States refusal to agree to the seating of Communist China among the United Nations.

So far as has been generally understood, a seat in the United Nations for Communist China has been one of the main causes of the so-called rift between U.S. and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Yet the unwillingness of the Washington administration to agree with its treaty partners in what might be thought to be a reasonable proposal, could be attributed to factors which appear to have escaped recognition—whether by accident or design—in much of the discussions around the question of Formosa and its implications.

By the Yalta agreement made by the Big Three, U.S., Russia and Britain, Formosa was to be handed over to China at the end of hostilities. At that time Chiang Kai-Shek was on the mainland; today, his forces defeated by the Communists, are on the island, trained by U.S. officers and equipped by the U.S. Furthermore, his representation retains the China seat at United Nations; and, in addition, certain U.S. circles strongly favor retention of Formosa as a Pacific stronghold in the struggle against Communism.

Mr. Dulles' blunt warning may have startled the chancelleries of some western nations, but may have arisen from a sense of frustration. Similarly, the late Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain once remarked during a trying time in British affairs that he "was tired of Britain being kicked around the world." That the United States forces could have driven the Communists over the Yalu river is undeniable, but they did not defer to the whims of their allies. Their reward for this restraint has been suspicion and name-calling (sometimes of a virulent type) and casualties of more than 136,000, including 24,900 dead.

No Rail Tie-Up In Handling Crop

There will be no rail tie-up in the handling of this year's grain crop as far as the Canadian National Railways is concerned, chairman and president Donald Gordon said at Winnipeg last week.

The capacity of terminal elevators and lake and ocean shipping facilities to move the anticipated bumper crop will determine whether or not there is any congestion in the grain movement, he said.

An estimated wheat supply of 350,000,000 bushels is on the Prairies now, Mr. Gordon said, and a crop of 540,000,000 to 600,000,000 bushels is about to be harvested. "The C.N.R. already is moving large quantities of grain for this time of year, and grain cars are spotted across the West ready for a major transportation job."

Mr. Gordon, on a five-week tour of Canadian National lines in Western Canada, said the C.N.R. is "getting into heavy dislocation" from Winnipeg to the Lakehead to speed up the grain movement. However, he said, it will be the main motive power for shipping grain on the Prairies, he added.

This year will probably be another record year for C.N.R. traffic in volume and possibly dollar earnings. "But," said Mr. Gordon, "our expenses will be much higher than last year, largely due to increased labor costs. It may be difficult to wind up in the black."

DELIA F.W.U.A.

The regular meeting of the Delia F.W.U.A. was held on October 27th, with Mrs. E. Schoppe, Vice-Pres., presiding. There were 9 members and one visitor present.

A letter was read by the Sec. Mrs. Wallace, from the head office in Edmonton re the delegates to the A.C.W.W. Convention recently held in Toronto.

Mrs. Schoppe read a letter on the Home Economics Course at Oids.

Arrangements were made to hold a Halloween Costume Dance on October 30th.

Mrs. Williams held an interesting contest, Mrs. Joan Friedley being the winner of a very useful prize.

Mrs. Mann served a very enjoyable lunch.

Rightly or wrongly, Washington is convinced that the democrats cannot oppress the Communists. The conclusion of the U.S. diplomats allocated to post in Moscow agree upon the point, and if further evidence is needed, reference has only to be made to the gossip of both Lenin and Stalin.

Alberta Wheat Pool Seeks Missing Persons

The Alberta Wheat Pool has 2300,000 in cash belonging to Pool members who cannot be located. That sum is the remnant of a total of 38,500,000 contributed by the original Pool members in the 1923-28 period to build Pool elevators and to provide the organization with working capital.

Since years ago the annual Pool convention started to pay to repay the $8.5 million. Most of that money has already been paid out. There are quite a few members yet, however, who cannot be located. In an effort to find the addresses of these people the Alberta Wheat Pool has been advertising in a number of Alberta's weekly newspapers.

This program has had some surprising results. One Pool member who had moved from the Peace River country many years ago sent a letter from a friend who saw his name in the list advertised by the Pool. He went to the Pool head office in Calgary and got a cheque for $470.

A man formerly farmed in the Vulcan district but who now lives in Calgary had a similar experience. Briefly crippled with rheumatism he came down to the Pool head office and got a surprise of his life when he received a cheque for $388.

A farmer who formerly lived at Chinowest in Spokane discovered that $855 was coming to him.

Of course, these are exceptional instances, payments in the majority of cases running from $10 to $250. But the Alberta Wheat Pool is anxious to dispose of this trust money and would appreciate the help of anybody who can assist in locating people who are entitled to such payments.

Twelve members and two visitors attended the September meeting of the Delia Ladies' Aid held in the United Church Annex Tuesday, September first. The usual business was dispensed with. The new business on hand is the Drumheller Free byers W.A. Rally, which is being held in Delia on October 7th. The Delia W.A. and W.M.S. will serve dinner at noon for all members and visitors. All arrangements were completed, with Mrs. H. Stevenson being put in charge of all soliciting. An important question was then put to the Aid: That of officially changing their name to Delia W.A. This was voted upon and unanimously accepted. It was decided to hold the next meeting October 13th, instead of October 6th.

The date, September 26th, was the date set for the next Baked Sale. The hostesses for the October meeting will be Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Geo. Carter. The meeting closed with a delicious lunch served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. Stevenson and Mrs. C. Green. — C.

Canada's Future

Canada could have a population of 50 million by 1960, says the present review of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Annual industrial production will then reach $6 billion dollars at present prices.

This prediction is predicated on the premise that world demand will continue for Canada's surplus production of basic products and that a severe world wide depression will not intervene.

If Canada had a population of 25 million people, farmers in this country would have a home market for their production of meat, dairy and poultry products, oats, vegetables and fruits. There would likely be a reduction in acreage devoted to wheat production. More then would have to be sent to the world to provide food for a larger world population.

Majestic-Fair Lake W.I.

August 6 was the M.F.I.W.I. meeting day, with 19 members present and about the same number of Grandmothers and other visitors.

"O. Canada!" started the meeting, followed by the creed: "We are Canadians, financial report and correspondence. The minutes and financial report were adopted and approved by a majority vote."

Moved by Mrs. Beaton, seconded by Mrs. Sunberg, that we pay Mr. Agg two hundred, thirty seven dollars ($237.00) for painting the school.

Moved by Mrs. Thompson, seconded by Mrs. Gidwin, that the business of fitting the Title for Springwater Comm. Centre in a safe place, be tabled till next meeting, unless it could be settled in the Bank.

Moved by Mrs. Hands, seconded by Mrs. Beaton, that we have our Dance on the 14th of August. Lunch to be brought by each member.

Report of the Conference was read by Mrs. H. Gail.

Roll was called by relating Pioneer Experiences.

The meeting closed by God Save the Queen, and was adjourned by Mrs. Beaton.

Following the business there was a social hour, well as sandwiches and cake.

Flower-bedeked tables were laden with foods of different origin, as well as sandwiches and cake.

Hostesses were all members that were not Grandmothers under the direction of Mrs. Kivitt and Mrs. Beaton.

About forty people were present.

A toast to the Queen was given by Mrs. Hands, followed by a toast to the Grandmothers by Mrs. Beaton.

Mrs. H. Hoover answered for the Grandmothers in a few well chosen words.

A delightful afternoon was enjoyed by all.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

CROP ESTIMATES

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics on August 14 issued their annual forecast of the possible production of the field crops of Canada. Canada's wheat crop is forecast at 603 million bushels which includes 574 million bushels for the prairies. Oats for grain were forecast at 402 million bushels while 471 million bushels for the prairies. Barley is forecast at 283 million bushels including 272 million bushels for the prairies. The forecast at 29.7 million bushels including 27.7 million bushels for the prairies. Flax Seed is forecast at 11.2 million bushels including 10.6 million bushels for the prairies.

Some think the crops will not finally thresh out to these figures. It must be remembered, however, that all forecasts made on all standing crop, prior to threshing, are forecasts only of what the crop looks as though it might yield, and provided no damage occurs between the date of the forecast and harvest.

Forecasts made on standing crop, while useful as a guide, are in no way to be considered as forecasts of the number of bushels the crop will actually yield. Such an accurate estimate can only be made after threshing has been fairly well completed.

Alberta Motor Accidents

Recording sharp increases over a year ago, Alberta's accident toll is expected to mount, according to Safety Council figures.

In the areas monthly ended July 31, there were 9,392 motor vehicle accidents reported. This was an increase of 1,883 over the same period of 1952.

In the same month this year, 97 motor vehicle deaths occurred, which was an increase of 38%.

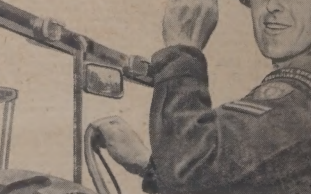

For July alone, 15 persons were killed, the same number as in July of last year. But the aggregate of 1,505 accidents last month was an increase of 25 per cent.

During the month, 49 persons were injured in 483 accidents, while Calgary had three deaths in 248 accidents. Elsewhere in the province, 11 fatalities were reported by the R.C.M.P.

LOOK, NO WALKING—This mailman doesn't have to walk a step on his suburban route in Toledo, Ohio. That's because he's got the first American car in 50 years that features right-hand steering. The jeep, specially built for the Post Office Department, enables the carrier to drop mail into letter boxes without leaving his seat. When put into widespread use, this design promises to save the department much in time and money.

"LADDIE" IS A SHY HERO—Alex A. McCulloch of Winnipeg, lost in the wilds of the Canadian Rockies near the Alberta-British Columbia border for eight days, is shown above as he reached civilization near Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., with the hero dog "Laddie." McCulloch lived for nearly 200 hours on two small-wild, wild berries and water from glacial streams. "Laddie" led the search party safely 12 miles from the remote spot. The Winnipeg man was found to the rescue camp located in the mountains 20 miles west of Jasper Park Lodge. McCulloch says he was ready to "Give up" when found.

Last year Americans spent a record $11.7 billion for recreation, topping the 1950 and 1951 figures by $373 million. But some items, like baseball and the theater, took a considerable drop from previous years. Some experts blame the popularity of TV for this. Although the chart above, based on recent Commerce Department figures, does not indicate it, TV and radio repair bills were $50 million higher in 1952 than in the previous year. And, of course, Americans last year spent more on the automobile than the screen cannot bring into the home, like horse and dog racing.

SUMMER-FOLLOWING ON IRRIGATED LAND

Lathbridge Experimental Station
Lethbridge, Alberta
(See Dummer, Irrigation Appliances)
Summer-fallow operations are carried out for two main purposes—one to control weeds and the other is to conserve moisture for the subsequent crop. The second factor is of no consequence under irrigation farming where moisture is controlled. Because irrigation systems, whether overhead or furrow, conserve moisture and intensive, such practices as the growing of row crops and perennial legumes tend to minimize the weed problem.

In a crop sequence test carried out at the Lathbridge Experimental Station, crop grown after beans and canning peas yielded as high as, or higher than, when sown after summer-fallow. In this experiment, the following seven cash crops were grown—canning peas, canning corn, mature, mature, mature, mature, wheat, and barley. The whole plot area was fertilized with 100 pounds per acre of ammonium phosphate (11-47) prior to planting the crops. The average gross returns from these crops grown after beans, canning peas, and summer-fallow were $185, $178, and $168 per acre respectively. The comparative cash returns from following are not very encouraging, since it takes two years to produce one crop.
This experiment shows that with a proper fertility program there is no need to summer-fallow under irrigation farming. However, there are exceptions where a serious weed infestation or a land-leaching program may justify its use.

Soil falling is a very problem
in Southern Alberta, where strong winds enter early spring winds prevail, and land that has been fallow is very valuable to wind erosion.
The higher cost of operation under intensive irrigation farming does not justify the cost of summer-fallow.
Proper rotation, along with adequate fertilizer application, should make the farmer to harvest crops every year on his irrigated land.

Farm Storage Needed
The Alberta Wheat Pool believes that farmers should be concerned over the elevator situation and should make plans for farm storage.

At the present time grain is stored in country elevators in this province approaching the 70 million bushels of total capacity. These figures will also have people of the future
in the elevators.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

The McCormick-Deering No. 64 straight through large capacity Combine, is gaining in popularity each year. It has more threshing, separating and cleaning area than most combines selling for twice its price.
Its self-aligning, sealed-in-lubricant bearings save you time and money.
The spiral separating auger at the rear of the pick-up, assures an even distribution of the grain as it enters the 64 1/2" precision balanced cylinder.
Adjustments, such as variable speed, cylinder and concave spacing, cleaning fan, adjustable sieves, etc., are simple operations and are very accessible.
Its large motor provides adequate power for all threshing conditions.

Compare this machine with others
before you buy a combine.
No machine is better than the service after the sale
